SUNNY SUPERHARD TOOLS CO., LTD, established in 1993, has been developing bush hammer since 2010. In the past ten years, we have gradually become the most professional supplier of bush hammer in China.

Bush hammer is widely used in the surface processing of various types of stone and concrete, and is mainly used in the processing of non-slip surfaces, retro surfaces and imitation of natural erosion surfaces. With its efficient and safe coordination with the machine, it gradually replaces the manual as an indispensable tool in surface processing. According to different texture requirements, we are committed to studying on different products corresponding to various textures. Nowadays, our product chain of bush hammer has reached hundreds of products, which can produce the products corresponding to their machines according to customer requirements.

The greatest feature of our company is in the ability of researching and developing. The general standardized products have unified production formula but we don't. The bush hammer is more inclined to OEM/ODM. We will formulate the exclusive products according to the different needs of customers, which also becomes the difference between us and other general foundry factories.
